Course Summary

Course Description	"Diction" according to Webster's International Dictionary,in music,is the rendition of words in music with regard to pronunciation ,Enunciation,and Expression. With this definition in mind, these will be the three main areas upon which we will focus in our work. Pronunciation free of regionalisms which is most understandable to the majority of the American audience. Enunciation, the concentration on how these words and speech sounds are ideally produced physiologically for easy production; and Expression, how we can bring out the meaning and feeling behind ths words within the parameters of the musical setting in which the composer has given us. ※ Please be aware that this lecture will be conducted as a remote course in the first week.
Description Related Courses	Study about IPA(International phonetic alphabet) , how can we write,how can we speak for IPA.

Course Goals	Many students of Korea, they want to study only Voice, but according to this Dictation course, they realized pronunciation is also very important and affected a lot of things to singers and songs. This course's golden goal is You must be heard and You must be understood.
Projected Results	According to English Letters, students have to question and speak to only English.
